

Can we have our ball back please?

I love my football club. My Dad loved it too. And his Dad before him. It's changed ownership over the years. It's changed managers. And it's changed players. But it's still my club and it always will be.

So why do I feel like I've absolutely no say in the way it's run? Why do I feel ripped off when the ticket price goes up to £25 or £30 for certain games? Why do I feel disrespected when I go to the toilet in our stadium and there isn't even a hot water tap? Why does a steak pie in the stadium cost £2.50?

Why do games get moved to 12 noon on a Sunday when that kind of scheduling stops our away supporters getting to the ground unless they get up at seven in the morning?

It's time the people who run the game in Scotland and the people who run my club reminded themselves that we aren't just fans. We are paying customers. So it's good news that the Scottish Government has published a Consultation inviting every football fan in this country to say what they want for their club.

If you don't have your say now, you may not get another chance for decades. It'll take you ten minutes to answer the questions. All you have to do is go online here <http://www.gov.scot/Publications/2015/09/8222> and type your answers into the boxes.

Let's take our game back from the blazers.
