

£2.50 for a pie? That's mince.

Buy a hot pie at Greggs and it'll cost you £1. Buy it in a Scottish football stadium and it'll cost you £2.50.

A day out at the football costs a fortune these days. The tickets are already overpriced and if one of the big teams is visiting the price gets jacked up again. It's a rip-off. You're a captive audience and you're being taken advantage of.

If you'd like to have a say in the way your club is run, you need to go online and take part in the Scottish Government's Consultation here: <http://www.gov.scot/Publications/2015/09/8222>

You've got till January 15th 2016 to make your views known.

If you don't do it now you may not get another chance for decades.

So do it right now. It'll only take you ten minutes but it could change the game forever.
